(5) For the purposes of an appeal contemplated in subsection (4)(b) the provisions of section 26 of the Financial Services Board Act apply with the necessary changes.

Jurisdiction

13. (1) The operation of a recognised scheme does not affect the activities and authority of the Adjudicator or the statutory ombud. 25

(2) No ombud of a recognised scheme has jurisdiction to resolve a complaint or settle a matter in respect of which the Adjudicator or statutory ombud has jurisdiction in terms of a law, except in the case of any such complaint in respect of which the Adjudicator or statutory ombud has in terms of a law declined to resolve the complaint or settle the matter. 30

(3) In the case of uncertainty regarding jurisdiction over a specific complaint, the relevant ombud, Adjudicator and statutory ombud must agree on who has jurisdiction over such complaint.

(4) If the relevant ombud, Adjudicator and statutory ombud fail to reach such agreement, the statutory ombud must determine who may exercise jurisdiction over such complaint. 35

(a) the financial institution does not participate in a recognised scheme;

(b) the recognition of a scheme in which the financial institution participates has been suspended or withdrawn in terms of section 12(1); or

(c) the financial institution participates in a recognised scheme, but the ombud concerned lacks jurisdiction in terms of the relevant scheme while the statutory ombud has jurisdiction to entertain such complaint. 45

(3) The statutory ombud must deal with complaints contemplated in subsection (2) in the manner and in accordance with the procedures, applied with the necessary changes, provided for in Part I of Chapter VI of the Financial Advisory and Intermediary Services Act, 2002 (Act No. 37 of 2002). 50

(4) The statutory ombud who deals with a complaint in terms of this section may determine an amount payable by the financial institution in question in order to cover the costs of dealing with a complaint in accordance with guidelines set by the board and published by notice in the Gazette.

(5) The determination of an amount in terms of subsection (4) has the effect of a civil judgment given by a court in favour of the board for a liquid debt and any amount recovered becomes part of the funds of the board. 55

Prescription and saving of rights

15. (1) Official receipt of a complaint by an ombud or the statutory ombud suspends any applicable contractual time barring terms or the running of prescription in terms of the Prescription Act, 1969 (Act No. 68 of 1969), for the period from such receipt until the complaint has either been withdrawn by the complainant concerned or determined by any such ombud. 5

(2) The Council must at the request of the board or the Minister, and may of its own accord, submit reports and information received from an ombud to the board or Minister, as the case may be, with such comment or recommendation as the Council deems necessary.

Declaration as financial institution 25

17. (1) The Minister may, by notice in the Gazette and after consultation with the board, declare any person as a financial institution.

(2) (a) Any person who has not been declared a financial institution and who wishes to be so declared may apply in writing to the board through the registrar for such declaration. 30

(b) An application contemplated in paragraph (a) must contain substantiating reasons for such application.

(c) The board must submit any application received by it together with a recommendation to the Minister for final decision.

Prohibition and exemptions 35

18. (1) Notwithstanding any other law, no financial institution may—

(a) participate in a scheme; or

(b) require or invite any client to submit a complaint in terms of any such scheme, unless the scheme is a recognised scheme or the financial institution is exempted from compliance in terms of subsection (4). 40

(2) Any participation, requirement or invitation in contravention of subsection (1) is null and void.

(3) Despite subsection (1), any scheme existing and in operation immediately before this section came into operation may continue in accordance with the provisions of that scheme until the expiry of a period of 18 months from the date on which this section came into operation. 45

(4) (a) The Minister may, after consultation with the board, exempt any financial institution or category of financial institutions by notice in the Gazette from any provision of this Act relating to the resolution of a complaint by an ombud, if—

(i) the resolution of a complaint against the financial institution or category of financial institutions by an ombud is already partially or wholly regulated by any other law; or

(ii) the granting of the exemption will not conflict with the public interest, prejudice the interests of clients and frustrate the achievement of the objects of this Act. 50

(b) The Minister— 55

- (i) having regard to the factors mentioned in paragraph (a), may attach to any exemption so granted reasonable requirements or impose reasonable conditions with which the financial institution or category of financial institutions must comply either before or after the effective date of the exemption in the manner and during the period specified by the Minister; and 5
- (ii) must determine the period for which the exemption will be valid.
- (c) Subject to paragraph (d), a conditional exemption lapses whenever the financial institution or a financial institution in the category in question contravenes or fails to comply with any such requirement or condition.
- (d) The Minister may on application condone any such contravention or failure and determine reasonable requirements or conditions with which the financial institution must comply on or after resumption of the exemption as if such requirements or conditions had been attached or imposed on the first granting of the exemption. 10

Regulations

- 19. The Minister may, after consultation with the board and by notice in the Gazette, 15 make regulations regarding—
- (a) any matter which in terms of this Act is required or permitted to be prescribed; and

Short title and commencement

- 20. This Act is called the Financial Services Ombud Schemes Act, 2004, and comes into operation on a date fixed by the President by proclamation in the Gazette.

MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE FINANCIAL SERVICES OMBUD SCHEMES BILL, 2004

1. Background

1.1 Following an extensive consultative process, which commenced in 1999, a Bill was drafted by the Financial Services Board (“the Board”), which essentially provided for—

- (a) the recognition of voluntary ombud arrangements in the financial services sector, provided they complied with certain prescribed criteria; and
- (b) the resolution of consumer complaints which could not be accommodated by either voluntary or statutory ombud schemes.

1.2 For a number of reasons, principally based on the Board’s experience regarding complaints received and learning of recent developments with ombud schemes in South Africa and other jurisdictions, the Board decided that it was necessary to revise the provisions of the Bill before its promotion through Parliament was proceeded with.

1.3 Thereafter in June 2003, the Minister of Finance temporarily withdrew the Bill from Parliament to further examine and ensure—

- (a) the independence of the ombuds;
- (b) a clear demarcation of the jurisdiction between the various statutory and voluntary ombuds; and
- (c) proper ministerial oversight.

1.4 Further consultations in accordance with the policy direction of the Minister of Finance were held in July 2003. The present Bill addresses the issues raised by the Minister of Finance.

1.5 The revised Bill retains the main features of the former Bill mentioned in paragraph 1.1. above. It allows a period of grace for schemes existing on the date on which the Bill comes into operation as an Act to continue operations for 18 months, and debars the operation by financial institutions of any dispute resolution scheme other than recognised schemes. This promotes one of the main aims of the Bill, namely standard setting. As regards recognised schemes, it preserves their independence to look after their own affairs but also extends the activities of the proposed governing Financial Services Ombud Schemes Council. It also addresses the problem of consumer confusion by providing for the facilitation of the co-ordination of activities of ombuds of recognised schemes and those of ombuds created by law, as also appears from similar developments in countries such as Australia and Canada.

1.6 The Bill makes specific provision that the ombud schemes may not deal with complaints subject to the jurisdiction of the Pension Funds Adjudicator and the Ombud for Financial Services Providers (“the FAIS Ombud”). This is necessary in order to enable the Adjudicator and the FAIS Ombud to develop expertise in their fields and to avoid forum arbitrage. The functional approach of having all complaints of the same nature resolved by a dedicated ombud established by law for such purpose will avoid consumer confusion.

2. Primary objects

2.1 The primary objects pursued by the Bill are summarised by the long title of the Bill, which reads as follows:

“To provide for the recognition of financial services ombud schemes; to lay down minimum requirements for ombud schemes; to promote consumer education with regard to ombud schemes; to co-ordinate the activities of ombuds of recognised schemes and with the activities of the Pension Funds Adjudicator and the Ombud for Financial Services Providers; to develop and promote best practices for complaint resolution; and to provide for matters connected therewith.”

2.2 The Bill proposes to achieve these object through an independent council, which will exercise authority in applying the provisions of the Bill.

3. Salient provisions of Bill

- (a) Clause 1, which is the definition clause, defines the principal words and expressions used in the Bill. It appears from this clause that banks, including mutual banks, and all financial institutions over which the Board has jurisdiction (as appears from the definition thereof in the Financial Services Board Act, 1990 (Act No. 97 of 1990),) are to be the financial institutions covered by the provisions of the Bill. Any other person may also be declared a financial institution for purposes of the Act, either on own initiative by the Minister of Finance or on application by the person.

- (b) Clause 2 provides for the establishment of the Financial Services Ombud Schemes Council (“the Council”), a body representative of consumers, the financial services industry and others, which will function as a committee of the Financial Services Board (“the Board”) and be responsible for the application of the Act. The majority of members of the Council must be independent of the financial services industry. As appears from other clauses, the executive officer of the Board (the “registrar” under the Bill), will serve as a member of the Council and the administrative work of the Council will be the responsibility of the Board which will also fund the activities of the Council. The Council is empowered to charge service fees in respect of any service rendered by it.
- (c) Clause 8 sets out the functions of the Council, which essentially are:
  - (i) To consider and grant or refuse applications for recognition of financial services ombud schemes;
  - (ii) to monitor the compliance by recognised schemes with the requirements of the Act;
  - (iii) to request independent assessments and audits of recognised schemes and their compliance with the Act;
  - (iv) to promote consumer education with regard to available complaint resolution forums;
  - (v) to facilitate co-ordination of the activities of recognised schemes and those of the Adjudicator and FAIS Ombud; and
  - (vi) to develop and promote best practices for complaint resolution by recognised schemes.
- (d) Clause 10 lays down the minimum requirements for recognition of an ombud scheme. These include:
  - (i) Majority support by those financial institutions in whose sector of industry the scheme will operate;
  - (ii) the appointment of the ombud by a body not controlled by scheme participants, and to which body the ombud must be accountable;
  - (iii) specified minimum requirements for the ombud in relation to qualifications, competence, knowledge and experience;
  - (iv) sufficient financial, operational and human resources;
  - (v) specific requirements with regard to the procedures under which the ombud will operate, especially that they should be informal, fair and cost-effective; and
  - (vi) provision for the effective enforcement of determinations of the ombud.
- (e) Clause 11 sets out the procedures to be followed when application is made for recognition of a financial services ombud scheme. The Council has to be satisfied in the respects laid down by the Act and will be entitled to either grant or refuse the application.
- (f) Clause 12 provides for suspension or withdrawal of an authorisation granted to a scheme in certain circumstances.
- (g) Clause 13 deals with the jurisdiction of the ombuds of recognised schemes. It also deals with cases of uncertainty regarding jurisdiction over specific complaints.
- (h) Clause 14 empowers the FAIS Ombud to entertain client complaints if those complaints cannot be accommodated by an ombud of any of the recognised schemes. That would for example be the case if the financial institution that is complained against does not participate in a recognised scheme.
- (i) Clause 15 provides for the suspension of barring clauses or prescription while a complaint is in the hands of an ombud of a recognised scheme or the FAIS Ombud, and further makes clear that a complainant’s rights to institute action through the courts are not affected.
- (j) Clause 16 requires the ombuds of recognised schemes to submit annual reports to the Council and further to furnish any information which the Council may require from time to time. The Council in turn must submit the reports and information to the Board or the Minister, with such recommendations as it deems necessary.

- (k) (i) Clause 18(1) and (2) provides that no financial institution may (as from the day on which the Bill comes into operation as an Act) participate in a financial services ombud scheme, or require or invite any client to submit a complaint to a scheme, unless the scheme is a recognised scheme, and that any such participation in, requirement or invitation, without the scheme having obtained recognition as such a scheme, will be null and void.
- (ii) Clause 18(3) provides that any financial services ombud scheme existing immediately before the date on which the Bill comes into operation as an Act may continue in accordance with the provisions of that scheme until the expiry of 18 months from the date on which the Act came into operation.
- (iii) Clause 18(4) provides for exemptions, subject to reasonable requirements or conditions, from the provisions in the Bill on resolution of complaints where such resolution is already dealt with in any other law or the exemption will not frustrate the achievement of the objects of the Bill.
- (l) Clause 19 enables the Minister, after consultation with the Board, to make regulations on a number of aspects in order to achieve the objects of the Bill.
- (m) Clause 20 deals with the short title and commencement of the Bill.

4. Consultative process

- (a) The first draft of the Bill was preceded by an extensive consultative process with the financial services industry and other roleplayers such as the existing financial services ombud schemes and consumer bodies.
- (b) When the Bill was revised to address the problem of consumer confusion with regard to where complaints must be lodged, the consultative process was resumed with the parties who had previously commented on the contents of the Bill.
- (c) Thereafter the Bill was placed on the Board's website with public notification that the revised Bill was available there for scrutiny. A list of the parties consulted when the Bill was first released and approved by Cabinet (annexure A) was attached.
- (d) Further consultations, in accordance with the specific policy direction of the Minister of Finance, were held with the voluntary and statutory ombud offices and their industry associations in July 2003. The present Bill addresses the issues raised by the Minister of Finance, and also reflects the combined efforts of the drafters of the Bill and those of the commentators.

5. Financial, organisational and personnel implications for State

The Bill has no financial, organisational and personnel implications for the State, except that the statutory recognition of ombud schemes, all funded by industry, is likely to alleviate the burden of the courts.

6. Constitutional implications

Client complaints lodged with an ombud are submitted on a voluntary basis and any client may still elect to take recourse to law through the ordinary judicial process of court, rather than following the ombud route. In these circumstances the provisions of the Bill are not seen to be in contravention of any constitutional right.

7. Communication implications

The Bill does not have communication implications other than the commencement of the Bill as an Act of Parliament being published in the Gazette.

8. Parliamentary procedure

The State Law Advisers, National Treasury and the Financial Services Board are of the opinion that the Bill must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure set out in section 75 of the Constitution since it contains no provision to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.
