Short title

9. This Act is called the Prevention of Illegal Eviction from and Unlawful Occupation of Land Amendment Act, 2006.

MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE PREVENTION OF ILLEGAL EVICTION FROM AND UNLAWFUL OCCUPATION OF LAND AMENDMENT BILL, 2006

1. BACKGROUND

The Prevention of Illegal Eviction from and Unlawful Occupation of Land Act, 1998 (Act No. 19 of 1998), hereinafter referred to as "the Act", came into operation on 5 June 1998. The intention of the Act was to provide for the prohibition of unlawful eviction, and to put in place fair procedures for the eviction of unlawful occupiers who occupy land without the permission of the owner or the person in charge of such land.

However, since its inception, various interpretation and implementation problems have been identified, and this Amendment Bill seeks to address these issues.

2. OBJECTS OF THE BILL

2.1 The Bill substitutes the Long Title of the Act to reflect the amendments proposed by the Bill.

2.2 The Bill seeks to amend section 1 of the Act by –

- (a) inserting a definition for "constructive eviction" so as to allow for the prohibition of this practice under an amendment to section 3 of the Act, which deals with the prohibition of certain acts;
- (b) amending the definition of "evict" by deleting references to 'building' and 'structure';
- (c) amending the definition of "land" to include buildings and structures on land. Many buildings, particularly high-rise buildings have been and continue to be occupied unlawfully, often at the instance of non-owners who then collect rent from the illegal occupants;
- (d) amending the definition of "Minister";
- (e) amending the definition of "municipality";
- (f) amending the definitions of "owner" and "person in charge" to include organs of state which administers or controls land; and
- (g) amending the definition of "unlawful occupier" so as to exclude persons to whom the Extension of Security of Tenure Act, 1997, and the Land Reform (Labour Tenants) Act, 1996 applies, whilst simultaneously including persons to whom the Interim Protection of Informal Land Rights Act, 1996, under the definition.

- 2.3 There has been confusion as to whether or not the Act applies to proceedings for the eviction of erstwhile tenants, or mortgagors who refused to vacate land after their leases were cancelled or on foreclosure of their bonds. The Supreme Court of Appeal has held that these categories of persons do indeed fall under the provisions of the Act—[Ndlovu, Ngcobo, Bekker & another v Jika 2003 (1) SA 113 (SCA)] It is submitted that it is not desirable and that it was not the intention that the Act should apply to tenants and mortgagors who default in terms of their prior agreements with landlords and financial institutions, respectively. The Act should cover only those persons who unlawfully invade land without the prior consent of the landowner or person in charge of land.

It has thus been necessary to amend section 2 of the Act (application section) to state specifically that the Act does not apply to a person who occupied land as a tenant, in terms of any other agreement or as the owner of land and who continues to occupy despite the fact that the tenancy or agreement has been validly terminated or the person is no longer the owner of the land.

- 2.4 A problem that may arise as a result of the amendment of section 2, is that an owner or person in charge of land may try to avoid the application of the Act, e.g. by entering into a simulated agreement with unlawful occupiers, only to terminate it shortly afterwards. In this regard the Bill seeks to grant a court the power to order that the Act applies if it is satisfied that the plight of a person is of such a nature that any act or omission by the owner or person in charge of land was calculated to avoid the application of this Act.
- 2.5 Whilst the Act currently prohibits the receipt or solicitation of money or other consideration as a fee for arranging for a person to occupy land without the consent of the owner, the act of arranging an unlawful occupation of land is not an offence. Due to the nature and increase in land invasions, often on land which has already been earmarked for housing development, it is deemed necessary to make it an offence for a person to arrange the unlawful occupation of land. It is proposed to amend section 3(1) of the Act in this regard.

In addition, section 3(1) is also amended to prohibit the practice of "constructive eviction". The phrase constructive eviction means any act or omission, including the deprivation of access to land or to essential services or other facilities related to land, which is calculated or likely to induce a person to vacate occupied land or refrain from exercising access to land.

- 2.6 Sections 3(3) and 3(4) currently provides that money or other considerations received by a person in contravention of section 3, must upon conviction of such person be repaid to the person from whom it was received, or if the person cannot be positively identified, into the National Revenue Fund. In this regard two issues have been identified and is addressed in the proposed amendments. Firstly, the reference to money or other consideration is not wide enough and should also include any assets acquired with such money. Secondly, it is deemed necessary to, where land is administered or controlled by a municipality, any money should rather be paid into the municipal operating account and not the National Revenue Fund.
- 2.7 Section 4(2) of the Act incorrectly provide that "the court must serve/give written and effective notice.". This is clearly not the function of the court and it is proposed to amend the section suitably.
- 2.8 Section 4(2) as well as 4(5) is amended to align its provisions pertaining to the giving of notice regarding eviction proceedings with that of the Extension of Security of Tenure Act, 1997 and the Land Reform (Labour Tenants) Act, 1996, whilst section 4(10), which deals with the content of a court order for eviction, is also aligned with the corresponding provisions of the mentioned laws.
- 2.9 In respect of eviction proceedings before a court, sections 4(6), 4(7) and 6(3) of the Act currently draw a distinction between persons occupying for less than six months and persons occupying for more than six months. In cases of occupation of less than six months, the Act prescribes certain criteria which a court may take into account when deciding whether or not to issue an eviction order, whilst the Act prescribes different criteria in cases of occupation in excess of six months. This clearly constitutes unequal protection of a person's right not to be evicted, as afforded by section 26(3) of the Constitution. The proposed amendments to the said sections remove the six months distinction and provide for a single set of criteria to be applicable in all cases of unlawful occupation.

- 2.10 Section 5 of the Act which deals with urgent proceedings for eviction is substituted –
- (a) to align its provisions regarding the giving of notice with that contained in section 4 of the Act; and
 - (b) to add to the conditions that a court must take into account before granting an order, by the insertion of section 5(1)(bA) which provides that a court may only grant an order if it is satisfied that it is just and equitable to grant the order taking into consideration the speed and scale of the unlawful occupation.
- 2.11 As a consequence of the amendments to section 2 of the Act, the Bill seeks to amend section 6 accordingly.
- 2.12 Sections 7(1) and 7(2) of the Act contains provisions pertaining to municipalities as being either the "owner of land" or not the "owner of land". This phrase is problematic in that although a municipality may in certain cases for all intents and purposes be the "owner" of certain land, the formality of transfer of ownership in the Deeds Office may not have been finalised. To address this occurrence, the referral to "owner" is substituted to now refer to land which the municipality "administers or controls".

6. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

6.1 The State Law Advisers and the Department of Housing are of the opinion that this Bill must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure established by section 75 of the Constitution since it contains no provision to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.
